

ADULT EDUCATION

A chance to increase your knowledge, develop new skills and gain helpful qualifications and credentials.

THE OPPORTUNITIES

42 MILLION ADULTS

are in need of basic reading, math, and digital skills. Adults with a GED and above are more likely to be self-sufficient, have higher salaries, and obtain better job opportunities.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT

Being involved with Adult Education benefits our community: increases employment rate, engagement in civic life, and business productivity.

EARN YOUR DEGREE

It's never too late to pursue your GED, and with the job marketing changing most employers will not hire anyone who doesn't have their GED or High School Diploma.

FURTHER YOUR EDUCATION

If you are interested in a college degree, getting your GED allows you better chances of being accepted into a program, which in turn has the potential to lead to greater financial earnings.
